the State of New York, but what particular national bank could not be ascertained as the bills were all cut as it by machinery and with regularity. These bills he had got from a small boy, who had in his turn got them from the rag shop opposite in Thirty-math street, which it kept by a man named Ward, who bears a respectable constacter and employs a number of men who live in the neighborhood. He also stated that a workingman named Drew hived upstairs, who was employed with Mr. Ward, and that he had a large amount of mutinated bills. The reporter ascended to the third story of the tenement house and Jonad the Drew family, who seemed to be honest, poor people. Mr. Drew welcomed the reporter and produced a small salt bag full of mutilated bills, which contained—if the bills were in a whole state—about $25,000. This bag was given to the reporter and he offered to give a receipt in return, but Mr. Drew declared that he didn't want a receipt or anything else. "Take it will ye—it'ill only make throuble for decent people—take it to the divit way e."

These mutilated bills are all of the State of New York, but of what national bank is not yet known. The $5 bills are manufactured by the Continental Bank Note Company, and the one's and two's have the name of the American Bank Note Company at the bottom of each bill. The name of the cashier is James Spraker. On some of the $5 bills on the bottom party; tensed by the use of acid, and the name looked as if it might originally have been "Wolcott." The reporter was a name partiy erased by the use of acid, and the name looked as if it might originally have been "Wolcott." The reporter was a name partiy erased by the use of acid, and the name looked as if it might originally have been "Wolcott." The reporter was, by the time that these dacoveries were made, accompanied by a number of police, and the greatest excitement raged in the street, and various remarks were made by the large crowd to the effect that it would not do that butcher any narm is he would mind his own business."

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

The Events of the Week---A Street View of Gold.

THE STOCK MARKET STEADY.

Much attention and comment were elicited dur-ing the week by the movement in gold and the While there is one class of observers who contend that the process of resumption under the act of Congress will diminish the premium, a much larger number of financiers—and among them are ot a few German bankers—argue that the recent heavy shipments of coin, the suspension of the the daily absorption by his department of the cus-toms receipts, have reduced the stock of gold at nand and thus caused an actual scarcity that is making itself lelt upon the price, and, with simito 120. Such is the talk of the street. For several years past at this season of the year the average sears past at this season of the year the average amount of specie held by the banks has been about $25,000,000. The last report shows that the amount on hand is only $17,000,000, the loss during the past week being nearly $4,000,000. The extremes of gold during the week were 112% and 113%. From the latter price there was a reaction to 112% on the announcement that the syndicate had taken $25,000,000 of the new five per cent loan, but the recovery was promptly made during the day to 113%, with a ng close at 113%. The following were the

GOLD PLUCTUATIONS OF THE WEEK.

THE STOCK MARKET.

An analysis of the highest and lowest prices of the week does not show the existence of any note-worthy speculative features in stocks or the presence of undue excitement. In fact, business pears to have been restricted by or to be under the influence of a species of caution, superinduced by a combination of causes, chief among which were the htigation in Lake Snore, the default in the february interest of Toledo and Wabash, uncertainty with reference to the purposes of the large operators and the prevalence of more or less of rumors of commercial disasters in this and other cities. The week closed, however, with a more confident feeling and stronger undertone, amid which prices recovered from 1 to 1% per cent from the decline, which had previously reached from 1 to 2% per cent.

The widest range was in Canton, which advanced from 58% to 84, but later receded to 59 a 60. Lake Shore declined from 73% to 73, rose to the injunction, and closed at 74%. Western Union advanced from 71% to 74%, and closed at 73% a 74. Pacific Mail sold at 33% a 35% a 35. Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph varied less than 1 per cent. 58%; Onio and Mississippi irom 28% to 28%, closing at 27%. Hannibal and St. Joseph improved rom 20% to 21%, and closed at 21, with little stock odering. Northwest common sold at 43% a 44% between 57% a 59%, closing at the former figure. The other changes were less important and will be found in the following table, which shows THE HIGHEST AND LOWEST PRICES OF THE WERK

THE MONEY MARKET. and 3 per cent for call leaps, with an abundance of capital offering. Discounts were easy, with sales of the best grades at 4 and 4% per cent, and prime from 5 to 7 per cent, according to date of maturity. An important fact in connection with the monetary condition is the official statement of the Chicago savings banks of their condition at the close of the year, which shows that their de-posits have fallen off in the past two years two and one-half militons of dollars. The aggregate of deposits now is $9,510.000, against $12,834.000 on revealed by the statements of savings banks in other sections of the country, so far as their statements have come to hand, namely, that the inbor-ing classes are growing poorer and poorer, and are steadily exhausting their surplus earnings of former years to bridge over the existing diffi-

Reference has already been made to the large loss of coin during the past week in the New York banks. These institutions now hold only $15,994,000 above the legal requirement, against $18,529,000 last week. The increase in leval ten-ders was $1,031,000, and the smallness of the sum, as compared with other weeks, is indicative of a diminished influx of currency.

THE FOREIGN MARKET. During the week the Bank of England reduced its minimum discount rate from 4 to 3 per cent. The bank gained £231,000 and raised its reserve from 47% to 50 per cent of its liabilities. During the same time the Bank of France gained 20,578,0001. The lowering of the Bank of England rate was followed here by an advance to 4.87% in the nominal rate for prime bankers' sixty day bills, the actual sales having ranged from 4.86% to 4 86%. Demand sterling remains nominally 4.90, and actually 4.80% a 4.89%. The week in London closed upon a quiet market, with consols steady and United States bonds firm. It may be interesting to state that since the lat of January the amount of Amesican railroad loans placed in London amounts to about $23,000,000.

EXPORTS AND IMPORTS.

The foreign commerce of the port for the week was as follows:—General merchandise imports. moinding dry goods, $6,750,253; produce exports, $3,611,472, and specie exports, $1,577.455. The lotal imports of merchandise since January 1 this year were $25,838.187, against $25,645,597 in 1874, and $26,393,267 in 1873. The total exports of produce from this port since January 1 were $16.744.401, against $20,781,489 last year, and $17,411.481 in 1878. The total exports of specie since January 1 were $9,204,329, against $2,347,573 last year, and $6,561,312 in 1878.

OUTSTANDING CURRENCY.

The following is an official statement of the United States currency outstanding at this date:-

.....$427,627,787 15 The amount of bonds held by the United States Treasurer as security for national bank circula-tion is $334,348,550, and for deposits of public moneys $16,482,200. National bank notes outstanding this date, $345,562,368.

These were active and higher, the final quotations being close upon the best of the week. Foreign and nome bankers, individual capitalists and institutions have been liberal purchasers of this class of securities, and, in view of the additional privileges given to banks to increase circulation, it is not likely that the demand will be materially fact, however, that most of the applications for the increased circulation emanate from the Northern and Eastern States and not from the West. Tuis is contrary to the predictions of Morton.

RAILROAD BONDS.

These have generally been well held, especially the Pacific issues. Exceptionally, some of the Western bonds have suffered from the strong antagonism that has recently grown up between rival corporations, and has resulted in the cutting It business were more prosperous a warfare of this character might be excueable, but it does not seem prudent at a time like the present, when depression so generally exists, to maintain a contest earnings, losses to stockholders, depreciation of the value of securities and a bitter fight among speculators in Wall street at the expense of the several beligerent corporations.

STATE BONDS.

Owing to political as well as financial complica-Owing to political as well as financial compileations these have not occupied a very prominent place in the market. Among the recent reports by Southern Governors to their respective Legislatures those of Georgia and Missouri are perhaps the most encouraging. Florida, likewise, by the adoption of a system of rigid economy, bids fair to get her dept within easy control. In North Carolina the finances are still in a muddle, and thus far no efforts at compromise have been successful between debtors and creditors. In South Carolina the process of funding is going on, and when com-pleted the total debt will be less than $5,000,000, interest on which is to be secured by spec.fic tax and by the receipt of coupons in payment of taxes. It is stated that the consolidation of the whole debt will be virtually completed before the end of this year. Tennessee is more unfortunate, and her bonds in this market have declined several per cent from causes already described in

SATURDAY, Jan. 80—6 P. M.

The week last past developed few now leatures beneficial to trade; yet there were accumulating indications of a revival of business in many branches of trade at a not distant period. The depression in the markets for some of the more prominent articles of merchandise, heretolore mentioned, still continued, and there was comparatively little at the close of the week on which to base a hope of increased activity the coming week. In dry goods and hardware there was more stir and the promise of increased business at an early date. But the accual transactions.

previous week, were still less than had been hoped. But the influx of buyers previous week, were still less than had been hoped. But the influx of buyers from the Western and Southern cities was noticeable, and much is hoped from this fact, in connection with others, such as the weil known paucity of supplies, the plethora of money, &c. As regards breadsuiff, the continued unfavorable advices from abroad, where prices are in some cause relatively lower than they are in our market, tend to prohibit a free movement hence, so that, in spite of the inaugnificance of the receipts, the market ruled in buyers' favor until to-day, when there was a break, and sales were made at lower prices for export. Corn was comparatively firm during the most of the week, though during the first part prices were lower. The receipts were fair, but the market closed frm to-day at improving prices, under a fair demand for consumption and shipment. Oats were in mocerate demand and steady all through the week, and bariey and ryo were dull and nominal frovisions were dull and nominal or the most part, nothing of importance being done in perk until Friday, when a good demand set in, and prices advanced materially. The activity was of brief duration, however, the market relassing into the former dull sinte to-day, though the improved prices were sustained. Bacon, &c. were quiet all the weck, and prices for the mat part favored the buyer. Lard was in good demand during the greater part of the week, but closed duet and easy to day. Grooeries were firmer, owing to anticipated tariff action. There was very little change in the cotton market, which closed looday with a fair inquiry and firm. Proglats were duil, but raies not essentially changed. The market for potroleam was shul all through the week, but remained firm, and to-day anall sales were made at higher prices. Naval stores were moderately dealt in, and the market closed strong, particularly for spirits impenting.
